AMELIA HYDELL'S Column

Grandson Killed in Fall From Cliff: Mrs. Nell Buchanan, 653 E. Second St., and her daughter, Miss Ann Buchanan, Columbus, left Tuesday for California after being called there by the tragic death of the former's grandson, Chris Buchanan.

The 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Bob) Buchanan, who live in Palos Verdes Estates near Long Beach, Chris suffered instant death when he fell into a 200-foot ravine along the street opposite his home. He was the eldest of the Buchanans' five children.

The accident happened Sunday evening, about a week after Bob and his family had moved into their new home at 26405 Gray's Lake Rd., in Palos Verdos Estates, according to Mrs. Ellen Parker, local aunt of the youngster. His father, a senior auditor for Hughes Aircraft, El Segundo, found his son's body after he had been missing about an hour.

Mrs. Parker, who visited her brother and family during August, explains that the youngsters in the neighborhood were accustomed to playing near the ravine, but that apparently Chris was alone when the accident occurred.

Grandmother Buchanan and Ann left Columbus by jet to be with Bob and his wife and children, Scott, Lu Anne, Kathy and Mary Ellen. Also with them is Congressman Walter Baring of Nevada, husband of the former Geraldine Buchanan. Mr. Baring and his family live in Alexandria, Va., and he was on a business trip in the West when he learned of the accident.

Funeral service for Chris was held Thursday under the direction of McCormick's Mortuary, Redondo Beach, Calif.

Chillicotheans who recently visited at the Buchanan home were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Snyder, 350 E. Seventh St. The Snyders returned home during the weekend after visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Don R. Mills, residents of Long Beach. Mrs. Snyder had been with them for two months, and her husband left about three weeks ago to accompany her home.

CHEER 'EM UP

Mrs. Robert Borland, Route 5, was admitted Monday to Riverside Methodist Hospital, Columbus, for observation and treatment, according to her mother and neighbor, Mrs. Clarence Tatman. A patient in Room 515, Mrs. Borland expects to be hospitalized for two weeks.

This week, Mr. and Mrs. Willard King, 622 Vine St., have been going to Columbus, to visit their granddaughter, Cynthia Welsh, a pneumonia patient in Children's Hospital. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Welsh (Virginia King), Greenville, Cynthia was admitted to the hospital on Monday. She had been discharged from the hospital on her 8th birthday anniversary, Oct. 7, after undergoing open heart surgery a month ago. Cynthia's condition is "fair", according to her grandmother. "She was thrilled with some 225 cards which she received while she was a surgical case at the hospital." Mrs. King reports. Cynthia, her brother, Gregory, and her parents, lived here until three years ago.

Vicki Harper, CHS freshman and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Harper, 316 Church St., is recuperating nicely at Chillicothe Hospital frum on appendectomy which she underwent Tuesday.

SERVED AS JUDGES

Emily (Mrs. Jack Marks) and Sylvia (Mrs. Ben Wiltmeyer) were busy in Circleville Wednesday afternoon judging displays in the arts and crafts at Roundtown's Pumpkin Show. One of the big attractions at the show, (it opened Wednesday and closes Saturday night), is the nightly performance of the U.S. Air Force Drum and Bugle Corps, Washington D. C. This group is appearing at 7 p. m. at the high school football field. According to the Circleville Herald, this year's show will not lack for music. Kingston, Greenfield and Jackson high school bands performed Wednesday night. High School bands from Chalion, Oak Hill, Amanda, Columbus East, Liberty Union and West Jefferson will be on deck Thursday night. Other Thursday night events include Margie's Matadors Drum and Baton Corps and an exhibition by Ohio State University's AFROTC Drill Team. Southeastern High will be among the five bands on hand Friday night and Chili-O-Chapter Sweet Adelines Inc., will also harmonize at 9 p. m. On Saturday night, McArthur Hi, Frankfort Hi, Centralia Hi and Adelphi Community Bands will furnish music. Parade time is at 8 nightly. Oh, yes, the hog calling contest (it always attracts Chillicotheans), is at 9 p. m. — better wear your ear plugs.
