

CORNPLANTER AND THE SOLDIERS

How the Local Soldier Boys of the Fourth Will be Feted.

THE GREAT TIME SCHEDULED

Chillicothe Officers Invited to be Present---A Native Porto Rican Also a Guest.

By to-morrow evening, Saturday, November 19th, everything will be in readiness for the reception to be tendered our soldier boys, by the members of Corn Planter's Tribe, says the Adelphi Border News. At first thought the Tribe intended to limit the reception to the half dozen members of the Tribe who went out to their country's call, but later the scheme developed until it takes in all the soldiers and their families of this immediate neighborhood, including one from Kinnikinnick, six from Kingston, four from Hallsville, three from Stringtown, one from Whisler, two from Laurelville, one from Nancy, one from Pike Run, and four Adelphi boys. The officers of Company H, Seventh Ohio, are invited from Chillicothe, and the officers of Co. M, Fourth Ohio, from Circleville, as is also a native Porto Rican, aged sixty years, who accompanied the boys to Circleville. In all, there will be thirty or more soldiers present.

The large store room in Red Men's building has been temporarily converted into an entertainment hall, where a large stage has been erected, and the hall seated to the capacity of about one hundred persons.

On the stage will be placed a piano, and flowers innumerable. The walls will be patriotically decorated, as will also the stage. After the entertainment, the soldiers and their friends will repair to the banquet room upstairs, where a supper will be served in three courses. During the banquet hours, the Kinnikinnick orchestra will discourse sweet melody, while the viands are disappearing.

The arrangements are quite extensive, and it is a pity that the Tribe did not have the affair to come off at the opera house, and invite the public. But as the entertainment was gotten up especially for the members of the Tribe and their soldier friends and families, the affair has been confined within the walls of the Red Men's property.
