PLAN TO HELP STUDENTS SPEND A PLEASANT HOLIDAY SEASON

Mrs. C. J. Symmonds, wife of president Symmonds of the Sherman Vocational school has consented to serve as Patroness of the school in all of its recreational activities as far as they concern the welfare of the students.

Mrs. Symmonds, with a number of local ladies are busily engaged arranging Christmas festivities for the Holiday season for those among the students who will remain here over the holidays.

Monday night, P. K. Rice, called a meeting of members of a number of the veterans associations and fraternal orders, the meeting was held in the room in the rear of the County Auditor's office. There plans were made for entertainments for the students at the school. The entertainments to cover the entire holiday season.

Among those present were Col. Richard Enderlin, C. A. Noth, W. E. Richards, F. R. Lee, P. K. Rice, H. E. Breth, B. Wade, S. K. Day, William Rardin, Father Kreuzkamp, Ben Segal, Adam Uhrig, William Huff and Miss Myrtle Naquin.

The meeting resulted in a number of plans being adopted for the entertainments. It was decided to call the members of the committee on which the entire number of persons before mentioned were placed "Comrades in Service."

Colonel Enderlin arose and offered a suggestion that the students be approached about remaining here for Christmas instead of going home. "We were in the service, we know what they are up against and we want to help them," he said. He spoke of the cost of such a visit, the railroad fare and other expenses connected
