REVIVAL SERVICES AT THE BRIDGE STREET CHURCH OF CHRIST COME TO A CLOSE

Sunday evening's services at the Bridge Street Church of Christ was the last service to be conducted by Dr. Jas. L. Thompson, the Kansas City evangelist evangelist, in Chillicothe. Dr. Thompson's subject was "Safety First," which he handled in his usual brilliant way. A duet "The Mountain Railroad" was sung by Miss Ruth Freshwater and Mrs. Harold Brown. Mrs. B. W. Renoe, the pianist, was presented with a token of appreciation by the congregation. Miss Buelah Huff, the three-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Huff, played the motto song, "Bring the One Next to You." An unusual feature of the farwell to Dr. Thompson, was the number of people not members of the Bridge Street church, who expressed their appreciation of his sermons to him personally and also financially. Dr. Thompson leaves here to conduct his next meeting at Mt. Pelier, Indiana. From there he goes to Hagerstown, Md., to conduct a meeting in the second church founded by Alexander Campbell, a church that is heavily endowed.

Dr. Thompson leaves with the well wishes of the legion of friends he has made during his stay in this city.
