

Capacity House Witnesses Excellent Production Given By High School Juniors

A capacity house witnessed the excellent production of "A Lucky Break", a farce comedy in three acts written by Zella Sears, given by the Junior Class of Chillicothe High School at Elk's hall Tuesday evening. It was an enthusiastic, appreciative audience from the moment the curtain rose until the close of the scene.

Following is a short synopsis of the play:

The scene is the office of Hotel Mullet, a summer hotel in a small Connecticut town. John Bruce, a former resident of Matawan, returns for a visit to his old home after accumulating a great fortune. An interesting climax is reached when he supposedly loses his money after falling in love with the daughter of the proprietress. The summer boarders furnish many comedy situations.

There were many amusing situations which were well presented, and reflected great credit on the directors, Miss Dorothy Rice and Mr. Charles Duncan.

Following are the players and their roles:

Martha Mullet, proprietress of Hotel Mullet. . . Ruth Larimore
Nora Mullet, her daughter. . . Dorothy Baird
Elmine Ludine Smith, a servant. . . Esther Weber

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Set by The Majestic Theater.
Flowers by Scioto Flower Shop.
Furnishings by Ebenack and Son.
—"Southern Ohio's most interesting home furnishing store."

Special mention should be made of Esther Weber, who took the part of a servant, Elmine Ludine Smith, who from the moment she appeared on the stage until the very end kept the audience in an uproar. However, every member of the cast carried his or her part exceptionally well and held the attention of the audience throughout the entire performance.

During intermission and in between acts I and II the High School Band under the direction of Mr. Squire pleased the audience with a program of delightful numbers. The new "C. H. S. March" by William Huff was introduced for the first time, and caught the fancy of the audience with its peppy measures.

The production staff was composed of:
Property Managers — Christine Stouder, Marianne Frad.
Stage Managers—Robert Duncan, Paul Conaway.

A nest sum was realized, which will be used to defray expenses of the Junior-Senior banquet in May.
