BIG NITE TONITE AT MASSIEVILLE

HIGH TIDE TO BE REACHED AT WADDELL-TATMAN SERVICES.

Tonight is down to be the biggest meeting of the Waddell-Tatman revival in the Massieville, M. E. church.

It is announced as "Omega-Foster's Chapel-Massieville, M. E. and U. B. Nite" honoring Rev. E. S. Matheny, of Columbus, the wonderful man of the ministry, who in the past was pastor for all the churches named. The "Omega-Foster" choir from Omega, and the wonderful congregation from Foster's Chapel, will be present. This as an extra added extraordinary feature will be Rev. I. H. Hampshire, pastor of Chillicothe's First United Brethren church, with his band of appealing chorists and "never-be-up" workers. Rev. E. S. Matheny will deliver the message. Rev. Hampshire will speak also.

While Wednesday night's meeting was the largest attended to date tonight church folk say, will exceed all others and have prepared for an overflow crowd.

Wednesday night's musical program was all. "The Catechumens" rendered a program of melodies and spirituals, the like of which for superiority and emphatic harmony was never heard in Massieville before. On the applause they received. On the air, broadcasting they are in demand all over the country. Their chaplain was with them. He is Rev. W. H. Reynolds, pastor of Chillicothe's First Baptist church. What a powerful spiritual sermon he preached. "It took me back to the days when that Old a. Virginny Mammy nursed me, and advised me, when I was a child," feelingly said Rev. Doe Waddell, the evangelist. Waddell also offered a message, as he always does following the clever Herbert Schumann, magician, who pleased the big crowd with seemingly unfaithful mystery tricks, which Rev. Waddell said was an object lesson unto all for good, to be careful of amusement, and handle with care and to know what the human eye sees is not really so.

Rev. H. H. Ables prayed at the opening and Rev. Waddell pronounced the benediction.

Kenneth Taitman, assisted by Misses Maxine Eberole and Gertrude Currier, led a song service, and Mr. Taitman sang solos.

Tomorrow night comes one of the great surprises of the revival. Among other features a Woman Preacher, whom you've all heard of, and wanted to hear, will give the message. There will be young lady assistance on the program. No meeting Saturday night. The revival positively closes Sunday night.

Today, at noon, the Waddell-Tatman half hour, 12:15 to 12:45, Monday night service, was held in the Royal theatre. Rev. E. S. Matheny leading it. Kenneth Taitman, with Mrs. H. E. Frank accompanist.
