Area members and families of the Adelphi Community Band prepare to board a bus for Washington D.C. where they will be playing at the Capitol Building and at Alexandria, Va., today, in observance of 100 years in existence. They will return Thursday. The band was started in Hallsville, and the Adelphi community in Ross County in 1880. The group disbanded a couple years and reorganized in 1924. Three of the charter members still playing are C. David Hinton, Laurelville, Herman Hinton Sr., Hallsville and David Pontious, Adelphi. The band consists of some 25 members from Fairfield, Hocking, Pickaway and Pike Counties. Raymond Connett, 90, Piketon, who started the Ohio University Band, is director. Frank Hickman, Roderick Shaw and Charles Proxmire, Lancaster were past directors. The band appeared at the Old Car Show here last weekend and they perform at many area
