Tour time in Kingston

Wearing clothing of yesteryear, Carol Reichelderfer, above left, and Joyce Fox, weave baskets outside the 1800 Tavern on North Main Street in Kingston. On down the street, the Adelphi Band, at left, plays a few tunes on the porch of the Hayes Stoneburner home built in 1860. The Sunday festivities were part of Kingston's Tour of Homes, a fund-raising activity for the village's sesquicentennial celebration scheduled for early July.
