They Will All Go.

The Red Men's picnic which will be given at Brundige's grove, near Kingston, on Thursday of next week, by Corn Planter Tribe of Adelphi, will be one of the most enjoyable events that the Red Men of this county have ever participatd in, unless bad weather changes the plans of the organization that has the affair in charge.

The grove that has been selected is a green and shady spot and a very desirable place for a picnic. Every Red Man in the county has been invited to be present, together with his family, and the affair is also open to the public. There will be speeches by several prominent Red Men and concerts by the Adelphi brass band.

The Red Men of this city, almost to a man, will attend, and many of them will take their families with them. The final arrangements will be made at the meeting to-morrow evening. To make the trip by rail, it will be necessary to start early and return late, so that most of them will go in private conveyances. If it rains on Thursday the affair will be postponed until Monday, the 29th.
