

Amateur camera and camera club members will be excited to see the results of the contest. The contest is the first of its kind in Lancaster, Ohio.

Leonard Hajost

Hajost Emcees Fish Fry

Lancaster businessman Len Hajost will serve as master of ceremonies for the annual Republican Fish Fry Saturday, Aug. 5.

"All GOP central committee people, office holders and members of the Republican Executive Committee have tickets for the fish fry which will be held at the Fairfield County fairgrounds," Hajost said. The meal will be served from 5 to 7 p.m.

George V. Voinovich, candidate for lieutenant governor, will be guest speaker for the affair sponsored by the executive committee.

Fish fry chairwoman Mrs. Margaret Smith has been coordinating activities for the event.

Entertainment will include performances by the Adelphi Community Band.

Hajost, vice chairman of the Republican Executive and Central Committees, is a past president of the Downtown Lancaster Business Assn.

Owner of Lancaster Book and Office Supply, Hajost is treasurer of the Fairfield County Historical Assn., past chairman of Lancaster Parking Commission, member of Rotary and elder in the Presbyterian Church.

Hajost and his wife, Rosemary, have six children, including triplets.
