HOME-COMING IS SUCCESS; CROWD HEARS SPEAKERS

Commercial Point Festival Brings Parade, Music and Political Aspirants.

The Home-coming held at Commercial Point Saturday was a success.

The promoters carried out the day's program to the letter and tried to make the day enjoyable for all the visitors. Being held at the busiest time of the year for farmers, there was not the turnout that was expected.

The morning was given over to the merchants' parade and the afternoon to political candidates.

Martin L. Davey, Democracy's leading candidate for nomination for governor and John H. Newman, the third time aspirant for Secretary of State, gave good talks and told the electors why they wanted to serve them and the great state of Ohio.

Mr. Davey, who spends his time down at Washington, running his end of the legislative chamber as congressman and the rest of the time doctoring trees, spoke on running the government on business principles. He said there was too much waste nowadays - running both state and National affairs, and this could be corrected.

The Adelphi band furnished the music. In the evening a dance was given. The ladies of the Methodist church furnished meals in the community house.
