HONORING MRS. MAINS
Mrs. John T. Mains of Greenfield whose recent wedding was one of the brilliant social events of the season, was the charming honor guest last evening at an unusually delightful party, a bridge-dinner, given by her sister, Miss Isabel Enderlin. Guests arrived at the Enderlin home on West Second street at 6:30 o'clock for a delicious three-course dinner after which bridge was played at seven tables. Mrs. H. F. Carruth receiving the attractive trophy for high score, Miss Truda Wisler the second prize, and Miss Thelma Goodman the consolation favor. Delicately bud vases of summer flowers decorated the tables at which the guests were seated and about the home were large French baskets filled with similar blossoms. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Charles Mains and Miss Faeanna Harpe of Greenfield and Miss Nancy Jean Meyer of Port Clinton. * * *

LOCAL FLAPPERS' KNEES "ARTLESS"
Chillicothe flappers are up against it. A call at local beauty parlors today, failed to disclose a single one equipped to cater to the newest flapper fad, painted knees. Unless said flapper has a "boy friend" to do the job, or has artistic aspirations herself, she is doomed to disappointment, as far as the fad is concerned here. This "awful" condition exists here, in spite of the fact that at the recent convention of beauty experts in Chicago, it was announced that to be really stylish, a girl should have her knees decorated.
