HELP THE BAND

One of the assets of any community is a well trained musical organization that is capable and proficiently trained in producing sweet harmonies for public enjoyment. Chillicothe has such an organization, which has reached its state of perfection by dint of hard study, grueling rehearsal and the outlay of much energy and money to fit its members to play in public.

Of course, in a community of this size, the opportunities for receiving cash remuneration for its performances are infrequent and not sufficient to become a spur to a continuation, save through the love of the art by its members.

The Odd Fellows Band, in order to give enjoyment to the public and at the same time in a measure compensate it for its strenuous rehearsal period conducted all through the winter season, is conducting a series of open air concerts on Sunday evenings, in the city park. The pay for this is nominal to the members of the band and the fund is the result of public subscription. Thus far the public has been generous enough to enable the concert series to go on through its donations, but the fund is now about exhausted and there is a call for additional donations.

All of us in Chillicothe should understand this and all that should be necessary is to receive the announcement that more funds are desired to bring forth the amount needed. To that end all those who wish to help the band and at the same time contribute to the enjoyment and culture of the general public, many of whom are too poor to secure enjoyment in any other way, should send in their additional contributions to C. A. Davenport, Adam Uhrig, Will Huff or N. P. Kerns. They will see that due credit is given and that the distribution is made to the proper place.
