Receipts and attendance both topped the 5,000 mark for the 57th Annual Clarksburg Field Day, Thursday. Receipts for the one-day event totaled $5,331, but bills have not yet been paid, according to a field day spokesman. Field day events were highlighted by the appearance of Bob Braun and Cliff Lash of the 50-50 Club television show. During the program, Braun was presented $100 for the Ruth Lyons Christmas Fund. The money was donated by area residents. Three bands presented concerts during the festivities—The Adelphi Band, which has been featured at the field day for more than 25 years, the Senior Citizens Band and Adena High School Band. Other free entertainment provided at the field day included performances by The Rangers of Waverly, a country and western music group, Linfield Ivy, of Frankfort, a rock group, and Cross Trailers Western Style Square Dance Club, of Chillicothe. Contests for games for children were held beginning at 4 p.m. A horseshoe pitching tournament was also held. Attending the field day, but not participating in the tournament, was the current Junior Girl's World Champion Horseshoe pitcher, Jennifer Reno, Waverly. Last year's Class A field day champion Ted Harris did not participate in the tournament this year because he was competing in the World Championship tournament being held in Greenville.

Bainbridge Headstart in jeopardy

The Head Start program in Bainbridge may be cancelled if a suitable location for classes can't be found, Head Start Director Dean Valentine warned this morning. Valentine said the Village Inn, in which the program was located last school year, does not meet criteria for a classroom set by the state. A suitable building must be found by the time the program begins Sept. 6, he said, or the program can't continue. He asked that anyone who knows of an available location contact him at the Head Start Office at 215 W. Second St. Valentine said 20 youngsters, a teacher, teacher's aide and cook were involved in the Bain-

Forestry employes claim state threatening job future

By JACK MCFARREN
staff writer
Two employes of the Chillicothe office of the Ohio Division of Forestry said this morning they have been threatened with the loss of recommendations for other state jobs if they prothe job for both of the women, whose jobs were eliminated. Both women have indicated they plan to appeal the loss of their jobs to the Ohio Civil Service Commission. Two clerical positions have been abolished and five of the employe, and Mrs. Ginn, an 11-year employe are Republicans. Mrs. Bostic said another woman, a Democrat with the same job classification as Mrs. Ginn, was brought into the local office in March, worked six weeks and then left for a leave of absence.
