'Babies' honored retiring doctor

The "I am a Leggett Baby Day" parade on the last day of 1946 Ross County Fair has yet to be equaled.

Shortly before the second annual fair, Dr. C. D. Leggett, a long-time Chillicothe doctor and first harness racing program director, announced plans to retire.

His life-long career included having delivered 5,000 babies.

Fair board officials came up with a program to honor the doctor by having a parade of all the babies he had delivered. By Friday, 1,123 Leggett-delivered persons of all ages had signed up for the parade at a special booth on the fairgrounds. The "I am a Leggett Baby" parade marched on the race track led by the Adelphi Band and Dr. Leggett riding on a fine black horse.
