trees that shade the area. "I can get out and stay till everything is over. There's a lot going on down here. It's all good."

Vernon 'Butch' Alexander, co-chairman for the event, said he was pleased with the turnout and the help he received getting the grounds ready. "A lot of local people spend a lot of time out there."

The crowd, somewhat larger than last year's, came with an appetite. The hungry polished off 750 pounds of fish, 125 chickens, 130 pounds of hamburger and 212 gallons of ice cream and soft drinks.
