

Rev. and Mrs. Hampshire Welcomed To New Pastorate at U. B. Church

It was a very happy occasion, when Rev. and Mrs. L. H. Hampshire were welcomed to their new pastorate at the First United Brethren church at a reception given on Thursday evening at the church by the church and Sunday school.

Music for the pleasant affair was furnished by the school orchestra, directed by Mrs. Will Huff and an interesting program was given which opened with a song by the congregation, and responsive reading by the Sunday school, led by Mr. B. H. Smith, Sunday school superintendent, followed by prayer by Mr. August Wagner, class leader.

Misses Lois Drummond and Clara Debord contributed a vocal duet, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Harold Brown, followed by impersonations of old time fiddlers by Elmer Cutright and Clyde Emory, a harmonica march by Walter Leatherwood, and an imitation of Bradley Kincaid by Clyde Boyer.

Superintendent Smith gave a talk in appreciation of the Sunday school and its teachers, and the officers of the different organizations of the church, numbering seventeen, gave one and one half minute talks of appreciation of their individual organizations.

On behalf of the church, Mr. Smith presented Rev. and Mrs. Hampshire with a beautiful gift, thanks for which were expressed in brief talks by the recipients.

As a fitting conclusion of a very enjoyable evening, dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Oscar Davis and her corps of assistants.

Dead in Mystery

Mrs. Jenny Graham Kane (above), wife of Elisha Kent Kane, 37-year-old professor at the University of Tennessee, who was mysteriously drowned in Chesapeake Bay under circumstances which authorities of Hampton, Va., consider point toward homicide. Detained in connection with his mate's death, Professor Kent denies drowning her and claims his wife slipped off a rock while bathing and died before he could rescue her.

In two weeks Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy, East Main street, will be hostess to club members.
